

Abstract

The sprayed polyurethane foil can be demolded rapidly and easily, and has very good tensile strain at break and tear propagation resistance. In essence, the improvements in properties are brought about via a proportion of fumed silica and the omission of amine initiators.